RIVER DES PERES RUNNING ACROSS DELMAR BOULEVARD

Firemen Assist Police in Rescue-Wabash Frisco and Missouri Pacific Suspend Trains -Rainfall of Nearly Six Inches Breaks 24-Hour Record.

An all-night rain, which continued steadily during the morning and which likely will continue into the night, flooded large areas in many parts of the city, caused hundreds of residents to flee from their homes in boats in the valley of the River des Peres and marooned towns in St. Louis County by stopping railroad, street car and automobile traffic.

The rainfall was the heaviest in the city's history for a 24-hour period. In the 19 hours, between 7 o'clock last night and 2 o'clock this afternoon, the rainfall was 5.82 inches. The previous record for a 24-hour period was 5.08 inches, which fell in 9 hours and 23 minutes on July 7 and 8, 1898.

Following were the striking features on the flood:

Wabash trains through the west end were discontinued, as was service on the Missouri Pacific and Frisco main lines through the southwestern part of the city.

Delmar cars did not run west of Hamilton avenue. University cars ran to Euclid and McPherson avenue, and then were routed over the Delmar line to De Baliviere avenue. Manchester cars were not operated west of King's highway. Market street cars, westbound, stopped at King's highway. Cherokee cars stopped at Itaska street. The Kirkwood-Ferguson line was discontinued. There were no Creve Coeur cars between De Baliviere avenue and Vinita Park. Eastbound Creve Coeur cars stopped at Vinita Park, and transferred passengers to the Page line "dinky."

In the Washington Heights district, west of De Baliviere avenue and north and south of Delmar boulevard, residents were unable to drain water through their kitchen and bathroom sinks.

The bridge which carries Delmar boulevard over the River Des Peres. just west of the Wabash station and the station itself were inundated. The station platforms, including the shelter shed on the east side of the tracks, were swept away. The overflow filled the Wabash right-of-way both north and south of the station, and on Delmar boulevard reached east to within 50 yards of Hamilton avenue and west for a block beyond the Wabash station. A considerable portion of Forest Park was inundated.

The flooded area in the southwestern section was about four miles long and varied in width from a half mile to a mile. It included see tions of the communities of Benton, Greenwood, Maplewood, Lindenwood and Gratiota

REV. DR. NICCOLLS DIES SUDDENLY IN

Second Presbyterian Pastor Seized With Stroke of Apoplexy on Fishing Trip.

The Rev. Dr. Samuel Jack Niccolls, 77 years old, pastor of the Second Presby-terian Church, and dean of the Protestant clergy of St. Louis, died suddenly yesterday afternoon, from apoplexy near Camp Pinehurst, in the Adiron dacks. A dispatch from Utica, N. Y., brought the first news of his death last night.

Dr. Niccolls celebrated his golden jubi lee, marking the conclusion of 50 years in his pastorate, last March. His fifty-first wedding anniversary, last Monday, was observed at the Adirondack cas where he was staying with his wife and daughter, Miss Grace Niccolls.

The Niccolls family had made its sum mer home at Camp Pinehurst for many years, and Dr. Nicoolis was accustomed to preach in surrounding churches occa-sionally during the summer. He was to preach next Sunday in the First Presbyterian Church, Utica.

Dr. Niccolls, according to the dispatch, consulted a physician in Utica a few days ago, about attacks of dizziness which he suffered. He spoke of a plan to go on a fishing expedition, but the physician advised him to remain quiet at the camp. Nevertheless, he went Wednesday, accompanied by a guide, and it was on this expedition that he and it was on this was carried to the full dead. His body was carried to the camp, and will be brought to St. Louis. He was a native of Westmoreland

County, Pa., and finishing his ministerial training shortly before the outbreak of the Civil War, he became chaplain of a Pennsylvania regiment. He came to St. Louis in 1885, as pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church, then at Fifth (Broadway) and Walter Second Presbyterian Church, then at Fifth (Broadway) and Walnut streets. The church moved west twice during his pastorate, first to Seventeenth and Locuit streets, where its building still stands, and in 1898 to the present edifice, at Taylor avenue and Westminster

Moderator of Assembly. Niccolls was Moderator of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in 1872. He has held a leading position in the management of colleges and theological schools of the church in the West, and he has taken part in movements for the public good, outside church lines. He was credited with a large part in obtaining Andrew Carnegie's $1,000,000 gift for the St. Louis pub

At his pastoral golden jubilee, last March, Dr. Niccolls received messages of congratulation from hundreds of perons inside and outside his church cor tion, including a warm message from Archbishop Glennon. In preahing a that time Dr. Niccolls said that pastor ates should not be prolonged beyond the minister's usefulness, and said of him-self: "The shadows are lengthening, and the evening is at hand, when my work

COTTON BECOMES CONTRABAND.

As one of those commodities which are useful in military operations but still more useful in peaceful industry, cotton has been declared contraband of war by the allies. This, of course, is a reversal of the British position during our Civil nor the significance of the act. It would merely War, but since that time the status of cotton has been greatly changed by its employment in the manufacture of smokeless powder and high explosives.

So far as the practical effects of the decision distinction without a difference. Asserting the up shipments of cotton consigned not only to Germany but to adjacent neutral countries when Germany has been suspected to be the ultimate destination.

Attempt will be made to expedite such exports of cotton as the allies averted by good fortune this time is not sup-themselves will need. An understanding will be reached as to the maximum amounts that may be sent to neutral European countries for their own needs without incurring risk of seizure as designed for German purchase.

As the allies will require the greater portion of the crop, the classification as contraband is less to be feared than interruption of shipments by German submarines. The potent Government measures and the reduced acreage will prevent any such depression as marked cotton conditions

Some new international dictionary, when the war is over, may be able to so define neutrality that all the world will know what it is.

THE CIRCUS.

Alderman W. C. Schwartz is about to present a cided more nearly on its merits than any similar bill to the Board of vital interest to the boys and girls of this city. It's object is no less a matter than the placing of St. Louis on the circus-map

> For years the license fees of circuses, like the cost of living and all other necessities, have been rising. From $300 for seven days it has risen to to be prohibitive.

> That a circus is an expensive undertaking is eadily understood. With the elephants eating a bale of hay each meal, the lions and tigers devouring carloads of oxen, while the monkeys munch bushels of nuts, the 50-cent pieces coming in at the gate melt like snow in July. That dissension exists in the Board regarding > this bill to lower the fees is indicated by the remarks of Alderman E. B. Gregory. He is inraised on account of a certain circus refusing to give the city's legislative body passes. In anger he remarked, "Who wants to go to a circus?" Don't all speak at once. If the Aldermen do not want to go they should be made to go and pose in the sideshow as the greatest living curiosities. However, this is not to the point. The question is how can our boys and girls grow up without a view of the grand parade and a thrill from the lady rider jumping through burning hoops, and the man with the iron jaw? A certain rounding, softening influence on the heart and mind the circus ring alone can supply.

We need the circus. We want the circus. We must have the circus at any cost of license reduction or free tickets for city officials.

TAXPAYER.—Compton Hill Reservoir, built about 1870, originally supplied both water and pressure to the whole city, and is at present connected to the water mains supplying what is known as the low pressure district, which comprises practically all the city east of Grand avenue and a considerable area besides. This reservoir affords at present a storage of about 60,000,000 gallons and serves to uphold pressures during the hours of heavy consumption every day. Its reconstruction will increase the capacity to about $5,000,000 gallons. The existence of this reservoir affords an extremely valuable insurance against temporary shortage in supply which might result from accidents at the pumping stations. Without it a great enlargement of equipment would be required at the pumping stations to afford the necessary safeguard against temporary shortages in supply. "Taxpayer" is in error as to the deterioration of water in this reservoir. The currents and cross-currents caused by the inflowing and out-going water, together with those caused by the differences of temperature, insure complete changes in every part of the reservoir.—Edward SALESMAN.—Copper is stated to be a) hardened as to take a cutting edge by adding to it, while in a molten state, about 2 per cent of potassium ferro-cyanide. The color is not affected. The reason for the change is not clear, but it is supposed to result from the intro-duction of iron and possibly carbon. An authority says: There has never been such an art as "tempering copper." In early days, before iron was known, copper was largely used because no hardermetal was known, but every indication points to the fact that a harder metal was sought, as bronse was early introduced as a metal. Copper is placed in the same class of metals as gold anisilver, and you could just as well speak of "tempering" the former as the latter. Telegram from Milbridge, Me., says that J. W. Foss of that place has discovered the lost art of tempering copper. Ho shows copper knives that will whittle long shavings from a nickory wagon spoke, and a copper draw shave that silices the knots in the toughest ash hoop pole. He cuts a mortise in an oak heart plank with a copper chissis and he has a copper range which the village barber says is about the silickest tool he ever handled. These tools were forged of discarded soldering coppers from the varding cannery, bits of copper wire and an old copper tettle.

By Mrs. F. A. Walker.

COMMY TUCKER stood with a into what looked like a natural cave in crowd of other children on the a stony hill. Here he sat for some time dusty station platform. There were watching the rain pour over the cliff a dozen boys, all in blue uniforms, and the same number of girls in blue dresses of dry bits of wood.

Tommy was not a handsome lad. Tommy was thin and wiry. He had big eyes with a pleading look, but his keen face had a very intelligent expression far beyond his years. For Tommy was fond of reading and studying about all he saw, especially in regard to rocks and other things found in the country.

The next morning he and Mr. Edwards went to explore the cave Tom the found. They walked about it and had found.

A Word on Vaccination.

N view of the fact that in smallpox epidemics death occurs in about one out of every five, and that those who may survive are disfigured for life, some truths about vaccination should be known. Why should we be vaccinated? Because vaccination, it has been proved, is the only safe and effective protection against smallpox.

The local effect of vaccination reaches its height about the tenth day. On the eleventh day the soreness decreases and the contents of the core begins to dry. At the end of two weeks a dry scale forms, and after three weeks the soah falls off, leaving a clean, round scar.

What to do after vaccination?

Only clean bolled water should dirty the wound, and above all things dirt the wound, and above all things dirt whently be kept out. Any unfavorable result always follows from scratching with dirty fingers, which introduce in fection from outside rather than from the vaccination itself. In the lair of the Tiger today Bill James, the entity that may swing the pennant pendulum from Boston to Detroit, will make his debut with the Jungaleers. A whole lot depends on James. If he can win five games for Detroit between now and Oct. 4, the flag will fly near the Ford factory this winter. Therefore, there is, in truth, some interest in Bill James, for the first time probably in Bill's long life. He's over 30; away over it.

the winner in a tournament of any importance.

A newcomer to American golf, Alex. Cunningham, who arrived in West Virginia only a few months ago from France, was second to McNamara, with 306. George Sargent was third, with 307. Walter Hagen, the former national open champion, was tied for fourth place, with 309. William Hunter, the St. Louis professional, was well up in the list, with 320.

Charles (Chick) Evans was the only amateur to finish among the leaders. Evans ranked twenty-first in the list, with a score of 324. William Rautenbusch, the only other amateur who competed, had 322. James Barnes of Philadelphia, last year's winner, finished ninth, with 316. FAYETTE, Mo., Aug. 23.—Central Colege has received the proposal of Westminster College of Fulton to play the an-nual Thanksgiving day game between the two football teams in Columbia as a cur-tain-raised to the Missouri-Kansas game, and has it under consideration. It is probable that no action will be taken until after the opening of the college in September, when Coach Clingenpeel. Dean E. P. Tuckett and members of the athletic board can get together for a conference. Not a great deal of objection would be encountered on the part of the football fans to taking the game the Columbia thyear, as it is scheduled to be played in Fulton, but what the sentiment would be in regard to the following year it is hard to forteell.

C. L. Brewer, head of the athletic department at the University of Missouri, estimates that three times the number of reople would attend the game in Columbia than would be the case in Fulton or Fayette. He says 12.000 people will be in Columbia for the Missouri-Kansas game, and a large per cent would attend the Westminster-Central game in the morning And the crewd in 1916, when Missouri plays at Lawrence, giving Westminster and Central full sway in Columbia, would be even greater. and has it under consideration. (Copyright, 1915, by Press Pub. Co.) NEW YORK, Aug. 20 .- Johnny Griffiths of Akron, O., is at least half a Packey McFarland. The McFarland half of Johnny is on his left side. Johnny's left arm and hand are as fast and as well trained as Packey's left. His right arm is merely ornamental except when he uses it in blocking blows Griffiths beat Leach Cross, although Leachie landed half a dozen good oldtime soaks and twice had Griffiths wobbling about a bit for a few seconds. Griffiths is a very well-built near-lightweight. Stripped, he scaled 187% ounds ringside. He looked a clean-cut, uick. even-tempered and intelligent ick, even-tempered and intelligent ungster, very much of the McFarland pe. He smiled continually after enterquick, even-tempered and intelligent youngster, very much of the McFarland type. He smiled continually after entering the ring, presenting quite a contrast to the sullen, morose Leachle. Cross weighed 1384, ringside, stripped.

The bout went 10 rounds. In the first two Griffiths used his left snapplly, floating around Leachle with footwork as deft and swift as McFarland's own. In the next Cross caught him with a crashing right hook on the chin, which staggered the Ohioan and made him back away rapidly for five or 10 seconds. But Griffiths quickly recovered, and when he came in to even the score by left Jabbing and left hooking Cross around the ring, he wore his customary smile of amusement.

Griffiths' left was a useful hand. He used it like a rapier, feinting and then shooting it swiftly in through any opening Cross happened to leave. He used the left for head or body, as his chance came, and jabbed straight, hooked, and at times even, swung with it. But his right might as well have been paralyzed. When he did use it, once or twice in a round, there was no snap or power in it.

Final Tomorrow Cross Knocked Down.

round by rushing Griffiths into a corner and swinging at him furiously until the bell rang.

Griffiths gave a fine exhibition of fancy ducking and blocking. The time-keeper forgot to ring the gong until five seconds overtime, and in the confusion both kept on pelting away until the referere rushed in and motioned them to their corners. Leachie's look of surprise was worth coming miles to see.

In a mix-up in the sixth Cross and Griffiths fell to their knees together, but jumped up quickly. They boxed at top speed. Cross, watchful and sullen, continually pressed in, trying to land one grand old haymaker. Just as watchful, Griffiths either jarred Leachie's wellmeath with a smile—same old smile of amusement he wore in the first round.

Near the end of the bout Cross redoubled that finished Mandot. But of a punch that finished Mandot. See the start word watchful, too clever and too quick, somethins.

Marsans, finally awarded to the Fielders by decision of Judge Dyer, yesterday, is expected to report to Manager Jones here Saturday, and will be put in the game forthwith, supplanting Drake.

Fielder Jones, adhering to his recent policy of acting thinking parts, when being interviewed, declined to discuss the coming of Marsans further than to say he expected to use the Cuban Saturday and to add that he ought to be a big help, when he gets on his stride. Jones apparently figures it will take the Cuban some days to find his batting eye and get used to competition, after 14 months of idleness.

Old Man Plank was responsible for the inordinate consumption of time in yesterday's game. He was about as deliberate as the United States Senate, but he always had the situation pretty well in hand, despite the fact that the Brooklyns made more hits than the visitors. Unless all signs fail, their knockout will come tomorrow at the meeting of boxing promoters in Cleveland, where a National Agreement will probably hatched which will insist that fighters give value received when paid to appear

"I believe," said Bronson, "uniform rules should exist in all parts of the country, regardless of whether a referee's decision is given or the outcome of the bout is left to the newspapers. Too many inexperienced referees have been given a chance here-tofore to interpret the rules in any manner they saw fit. When these absolutely sound business methods are followed out half of the wrangling which has put the boxing sport in fill-repute, will be eliminated, and pugilism will become a business, the same as basebali."

The Terriers' Hard Luck.

A S an offset to the possible loss of the Federal League pennant through the absence from the game of Armando Marsans, there is a $13,500 bond posted by the Cincinnati Exhibition Co. This sum is supposed to cover any damages suffered through the keeping of the Cuban out of the game.

This sum would seem to be a meager recompense, since it is only a few hundreds more than the salary of Marsaus for two seasons, of which period he has the financial loss would be to a club deprived of a pennant can not be calculated.

not be calculated.

Nor is such speculation vain for, this morning, the Terriers were but 2½ games out of first place. Consider the number of one-run games lost, in which the extra hitting punch of a live wire like Marsans might have contributed the winning tally, and it is easy to believe the Terriers might now be as many games out in front as they are behind.

And all because of a TEMPORARY injunction. ALLOWED TO STAND OVER FOURTEEN MONTHS for want of ability to get action on the case. Will some one please rise and tell the class the distinction between law and justice?

Lower Range in Arabic Incident.

Rally Marks the Close After

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—The Evening Post, in its copyrighted financial review today, says:

"In such a situation as that created by the destruction of the Arabic, and the possible bearing it will have upon our relations with Germany, it was natural that all eyes should be turned towards Washington today. Prices broke sharply at the opening of the stock market, and trading was about as feverish and excited as was to have been expected under the circumstances. Following the early declines, when the active shares showed losses from yesterday, ranging from 1 to 3 points, there was a recovery which carried back many of the shares half way. On the rally, however, the market became rather inactive, and although there was large trading in the better class of industrial shares, the tone was uncertain throughout. In view of the extent of the selling, and the feeling of suppressed nervousness which everyone showed, the behavior of the market was quite remarkable under the circumstances.

"Strong support was offered on the early break, and some good buying was seen. But the support was at no time sufficient to put the market up to the level of yesterday. The standard rall-road shares held fairly well and in some instances there was a speat as to give little opportunity for the professional operators to do anything except await developments.

Exchange Market Irregular.

"The developments of the day in this operators to do anything except await developments.

"The developments of the day in this regard were not very illuminating, and it was clear that no program could be determined until the exact facts were known. There were rumors that the negotiations for a huge loan to Great Britain or to the allies jointly had been held up. There was no official statement on this point, but the situation was so unsettled that no one supposed that the operation would be undertaken until more was known concerning the details of yesterday's disaster. Tho probability is that the negotiations will be suspended until the affair has been cleared up.

details of yesterday's disaster. The probability is that the negotiations will be suspended until the affair has been cleared up.

"The bankers had other things to think about today, but the developments in the foreign exchange market showed that there was need for very definite action in the direction of rectifying the unusual conditions in the exchange market for London remittances.

"Curlously enough, the quotation for exchange on London was somewhat higher at the opening, being 467%, which was an advance of %c. Most of the business was done near that level, but the fact that the bills to go by tomorrow's steamship had been accumulated at the low level which prevailed earlier in the week explained to some extent the meager demand today.

"There were no changes in money market conditions and the banks continued to make large loans on time.

"But there was a fair inquiry for time money. Within the last week there have been very large advances by Wall street banks on time, the war stocks figuring prominently in the collateral. There was some calling of loans during the day, but the demands were not excessive and in most cases the responses were prompt and satisfactory. The statement given out by the Comptroller of the Currency touching the vast loaning power of the banks came in for a good deal of discussion.

"In the late trading, the stock market displayed a better tone and some of the active shares showed a good deal of strength. There was a fair demand for many of the war stocks at prices well above the low of the day. Tennessee Copper was very strong. Towards the close the market became active and the tension seen earlier in the day was somewhat relieved.

> Favorable Spring Wheat Crop Outlook Offsets Rain in Winter Wheat Territory-Corn Futures Are Fairly Steady.

FRIDAY'S COMPARATIVE FUTURE QUOTATIONS.

Wheat furious were irregular today on the Mcrchants' Exchange. The severe storm in the Central West and St. Louis territory offset perfect conditions in the apring wheat beit. Corn was firm or the wet weather. Oats were steady. The Liverpool cable said:

Later the market broke sharply on fear of further complications between the United States and Germany. Wheat closed sharply off compared with yesterday's close. Corn also ended easier. "Weakness in Winnipeg and Minneapolis and trilliant weather in the United Kingdom served to cause freer offerings and the market was easier, notwithstanding small Indian shipments and light world's shipments. Spot market was easier, unchanged to '4d lower. Cargo market easy, winters and Manitobas 6d lower, Plates and Indians unchanged. The general market is quiet. Corn was easier, with liberal Argentine shipments, lower spot market and easier cargo markets, which are offered at 14/1; to 3d decline."

Liverpool—Spot wheat unchanged to '4d lower; corn unchanged to Id lower; oats 4d lower.

OFFICIALS AGREE TO ATTEND TO MEET WORKMEN INSTRUCTION

Settlement of Alton Trouble Expected at Meeting to Be Held Next Wednesday.

Settlement of the labor trouble at he plant of the Western Cartridge Co. at Alton is looked for by ofassociation at a meeting to be held ficials of the company have agreed Box 100, Dudley, Mo.

FARM—For sale, small Missouri farm, E cash and 55 monthly; no interest or tasses tighly productive land, close to three bis markets; write for photographs and full information, Munger, S. 199, N. V. Life Bldg., Cansas City, Mo.

RKANSAW dirt snaps; new fist out, Arkansaw Dirt Agency, 301 Pine, (6) to meet with a committee of the workers. F. W. Olin, president of the for the last month, has sent word that he will be back in time to at-end the meeting. The chief difficulty in the way o an agreement, according to the labor leaders, is the effort being made to organize the force of about 400 girls who do the dangerous work of loading the cartridges in a building about three city blocks distant from the machine works. achine works. The girls are being arged to ask for shorter hours and 10 per cent increase in pay.

At the meeting of all the labor bowas discussed by B. F. Lamb, business agent of the machinists' association, and Edward Carbine, a national organizer The machinists are asking for an eight our day instead of a 10-hour day, and 1714 cents an hour instead of 3714 cents. as paid at present. The tool maker are asking for the eight-hour day an an increase in pay from 42% cents an Compressible Offer Declined.

John Olin, son of the presedent of the company, has made the workers an Plattsburg, N. Y. offer of a 10 per cent increase in pay or Saturday afternoons off. This offer was declined by a vote of 76 to 46, at a of the men present voted.

In speaking of the situation with a Post-Dispatch reporter, Lamb said that the movement in Alton was simply a part of a country-wide movement due to the belief of the men that extra work s being forced upon them owing to war orders and for which they have been offered additional pay.

He said that any reports that German men are ridiculous. At the Remingt works in Bridgeport, Conn., he said, the men have been granted an 8-hou. Tay instead of a 10-hour day and the same concession has been made by the Union Metallic Cartridge Co. of the same city. The Winchester Arms Co. of Springfield, Mass., has granted the men an 8-hou day and a 10 per cent increase in pay. The Pond Tool and Machine Co. of l'lainfield, N. J., has granted the 8-hour day and a 25 per cent increase in pay In considering the increase asked for by the men, Lamb said that it should be remembered that under normal con-ditions the various shops are closed fully four months every year so that the yearly wage of the machinists is at least one-third less than would appear At the present time, he said, the Alton plant is working night and day on war orders, in the profits of which the work-ers believe they should have some share. The work of the men, he said, is no dangerous, but requires a high degree of skill, all of it being micrometer work, with exactness required to the tenth of one-thousandth of an inch by insurance. The movement for shorter hours, he that now requires 10 hours work. About 300 men are employed and the propose ional shift of about 100 machinists ue the night and day work, bu Lamb said he believed the company would be fully repaid by better and

Lamb said that the disposition men is not to interfere in any way with the progress of the work. He said that while a strike has been authorized if it s found necessary, he believes the propects indicate a willingness on the par of the directors of the company to mee trouble will be averted.

The Jarr Family

By Roy L. McCardell.

Mr. Jarr. With a Stray Four Dollars, Launches Upon a Frenzied Finance.

RS. JARR, like a dutiful wife, was laying out Mr. Jarr's clothes, while he was initiating himself into the Order of the Morning Bath. Mrs. Jarr was only a human wife. She could not resist giving the trousers Mr. Jarr had worn the day before a joggle as she went past them. It was mentific joggle, and from the trousers kets poured bills and silver, looking of larger amount than the money en masse really was. Mrs. Jarr picked it up—$6 in bills and way he throws money around," she said to herself. "And if he should lose any of it I know he'd blame me and say However, she counted the money over again. "I think I'll punish him for his carelessness, and, anyway, I'd wager he doesn't know how much he came home with last night," she thought. "I'll jus take 34 of it and put it in that empty powder jar on the bureau and see if he

She placed the $4, tightly rolled, in the pureau ornament. Then she laid out and went to the dining room to arrange the table for breakfast.

Mr. Jarr came in in due time and, a tiring himself in his other suit, be gan the transferring of the various port able articles a man deems necessary to carry as ballast from the garments of yesterday—his watch, his pencil, his fountain pen, his keys, his knife, his notebook, sundry letter, his cardcase from the patch pocket in his coat and, last but not least, his money. Manlike, thrust all in pockets to correspond before, and then, putting on his col-r and shirt, he found himself a col-alled to locate the missing button. Then is eye fell upon the various silver trays in the dornaments on the bureau. In the mpty powder jar he found a collar utton that wasn't working and eke the in bills he had just been relieved of.

"Aha!" said Mr. Jarr to himself.
"Now, if I left my money around caressly, like that Mrs. Jarr would soon ake away with it. She's always talkng about the domestic financial strin-rency, and yet I'll bet she put this in here weeks ago and has forgotten all bout it. I'll just take it and see if
